History. Ha'Penny was started by my husband, Dick Schneider, as an Old English Kennel. He named it Ha'Penny after the English half penny coin, which he described as being of little value. He started in Old English, but he traveled to England one year and met Bearded Collies. Over time, he switched from Old English to Beardies. Ha'Penny has been breeding for almost 60 years, about 50 of those Beardies exclusively.

I took over for Dick when he died 18 years ago, and was able to keep Ha'Penny going at, I hope, the same high standards Dick always had. This was with the help of a lot of people in our Ha'Penny family; most especially, Michele Marini (Mirimar) and the late Vicki Null (Harwood). Of course, Dick was my principal mentor, and his mentors included Old English breeders he admired and early Beardie breeders here and in England.

Breeding. When selecting a mate for my bitch, I try to follow what Dick taught me. He thought pedigrees were important, but the most important thing was to actually see the sire. He would always say not every dog is right for every bitch. You evaluate what the bitch needs and see if the sire can give that to her. He also always taught me that you never, ever sacrifice soundness. You can't, for example, look at a dog with a great head and say to yourself, well he'll be great; my bitch could use a better head. You have to evaluate the whole dog. Once you lose your soundness, he would tell me, it is very hard to get that back. He would go to specialties to seek out a suitable outcross. In the early days, he imported sons of great English champions Edenborough Blue Bracken, Orora's Humphrey and Pepperland Lyric John at Potterdale, but he had met those three sires and sometimes the sons he was importing. If he hadn't met the sons, he checked with English breeder friends.

I think one of the things that has marked Ha'Penny over the years is that Dick was able to outcross to excellent dogs without losing the "Ha'Penny" look. I think back to my darling Dennis (CH Ha'Penny Delinquent), who was a three-quarter outcross. His Mother, the great CH Ha'Penny Mirimar Leontyne, a quintessential Ha'Penny, was herself an outcross and Dennis' father was the handsome Canadian dog Harrison (CH Classical Image of a Legend). However, you only had to look at him to know Dennis was a true Ha'Penny dog. He is the sire of my Fawny (GCHG Ha'Penny Mirimar the Fab Fawn), who combines the best of his father and mother. Of course, the foundation breedings of Ha'Penny were outcrosses; CH Ha'Penny Blue Blossom, a pure Brambledale, was bred to a son of Blue Bracken, CH Chauntelle Limelight.

Prioritizing Traits. The most important thing to me is temperament. That incredible Beardie temperament is the most wonderful characteristic among many that Beardies have. Preserving that should be every breeder's goal, and I am fortunate that we continue to follow Dick's lead in that. After that, the most important thing to me is structure and movement. Proper structure allows the dog to move well, do the job it was bred for, and be active and happy into old age. Of course, health history is important to me, but that goes without saying. I know my dogs and the breeders of the dogs I breed to.

I own stud dogs and we have stored their frozen semen for many years. We still use, from time to time, frozen semen of the great Ch Ha'Penny Moon Shadow, which was collected about 1990. It still works! Our most recent special was his son, Cedric (CH Ha'Penny Harwood Braveheart), and Cedric's niece, Coco (Ha'Penny Mirimar Harwood Heart of Alba), is Shadow's granddaughter and will be continuing to work towards her championship. While I don't breed as much as Dick did, I guess I will stop breeding when age or health tell me to stop.

Puppy Families. Many of my puppy families are long-time Ha'Penny people. Some come from fellow breeder friends who may not have puppies and are sending people on to me and some come from the breeder listing or something like it. I try to find the right home for the right puppy. I don't remember more than one or two returns when Dick was alive. Since then, I have not had a puppy returned. I don't put many restrictions in my contract or on the registration papers. If a bitch is bred, I have the right to select one puppy from a first or second breeding. I also require that, if a dog is used at stud, I can use him without charge on any bitch I own or co-own. I do not require that a bitch be bred or a dog used at stud. If someone wants a show dog, I select the puppy or give them a limited choice. In the recent Covid era, no one saw any puppies, so we all just tried to put the right dog with the right owner. Oddly enough, the Covid litters have been very good at keeping in touch with me and with their fellow owners. They tend to send the most photos and give each other tips. Of course, since things were so restricted, most of them have never met each other in person.

Great Beardies. There are many beardies I have owned or known that stand out in my memory. Of the great English dogs, the only one I actually got to meet was Pepperland's Lyric John at Potterdale. He was, I believe, about twelve when I met him, but he was still a magnificent dog. Going way back in the US, CH Bendale Special Lady was a beautiful bitch and Britannia has had many great dogs since then. More recently, I would mention two dogs I had the honor to put up as Best in Veteran Sweeps and Best of Opposite at a recent National Specialty – GCHS Highlander MacBean at Burlesque and GCH Nonesuch Arlin Fawntastic. These two dogs epitomize breeding for temperament and structure, and I admired them even more after I put my hands on them than when I watched them from afar in the ring.

Of the Ha'Penny contingent, there was, of course, the incomparable Blue Blossom, the foundation bitch of Ha'Penny. I never got to meet Chauntelle Limelight, but he must have been quite the dog to produce what he did. I know I will leave many out, but Shadow, Leontyne, Dennis, Wally (CH Ha'Penny Weekend Warrior), Sue Me (CH Ha'Penny So Sue Me), Lilac (CH Ha'Penny Lilac), Macey (CH Ha'Penny Harwood Heartthrob) and so many others live on in my memory. I know that they are with Dick and that I will see them again some day at the Rainbow Bridge.

Beardies of Today. Overall, I think the Beardies of today generally have better structure than 30 years ago. The "average" beardie in the ring is improving, in my view. I have been told that temperament is becoming an issue, but I honestly haven't seen that myself. I really hope that isn't true. A Beardie without that wonderful temperament is just not a Beardie. I would like to see more concentration on good structure and much less on growing a coat that might be suitable for the Arctic but not for the Highlands. Our fronts are much better, on average, than I remember from 30 years ago, but I would like to see better rears.

I do not believe in restricting the use of stud dogs. If someone tried to tell me that, because Shadow has over 60 champion get, I can't take two straws out and use them every five years or so, I would be furious. Responsible breeders know what they want, and the irresponsible ones don't leave much of a mark one way of the other in the long run.
